INTERPROFESSIONAL
HEALTHCARE
CASE COMPETITION

Open to Wisconsin college students - tech, undergrad & grad students
Sponsored by Wisconsin AHEC

Wisconsin AHEC invites students from any Wisconsin college/university to compete in a case competition to demonstrate they’ve got the knowledge and skills that employers are seeking in up-and-coming health professionals!

What is the Interprofessional Healthcare Case Competition?

Teams will conduct an analysis of interprofessional efforts during the care of a patient/client. At the end of the process, the top teams will travel to the Kalahari Resort in the Wisconsin Dells on January 10 – 11, 2019 to present their case in front of a panel of judges. The top 3 teams are awarded cash prizes.

Students can either apply as individuals or as a team. For individuals that want to participate in the case competition, but do not have the connections to form their own team, will be placed on an existing team or a team of individual applicants.

- Health professions students from any degree or discipline may compete.
- Teams consist of 4 to 5 students, with at least 3 different degrees or professions
- Choose which AHEC region their team will represent.
- Each team member will pay a $35.00 registration fee.

Applications open on September 1, 2018 | Deadline is October 6, 2018
